Introduction

This information is provided by the ASU Global Education Office (GEO) to assist prospective and current applicants in planning and financing a Global Education Office program. Participating in these programs is feasible, even for students with limited financial means, through financial aid, scholarships, community-based funding, and proper planning.

Choosing a Program: Considering Costs

It is important to select a program you can afford and to utilize the many sources of funding available. The cost sheets available on the Global Education Office website and program provider websites can give detailed information about how much you can expect to spend, not only on tuition or a program fee, but on all program-related expenses.

Through proper planning, most ASU students can find a program they can afford and an experience that lasts a lifetime. The Global Education Office staff is happy to assist you with considering costs when selecting or planning for your program. Bottom line: Don't let financial matters deter you from participating in a Global Education Office program!

The chart on the following two pages outlines the expected costs of each of the four types of programs the Global Education Office offers: Partnership, Exchange, Global Intensive Experience, and Summer Faculty-Directed. Take some time to familiarize yourself with the costs that will be covered through your tuition (Exchange) or program fee (Partnership, Global Intensive Experience, and Summer Faculty-Directed) and those additional costs beyond tuition or the program fee.

DISCLAIMER: The ASU Global Education Office endeavors to provide current and accurate cost information, but such data should be considered estimates only. Information in the Financing Your Global Education Program Handbook and on the Global Education Office website is subject to change without notice.

Other Scholarships	Many scholarships and grants are available from the Global Education Office, ASU departments and colleges, program providers, and external organizations. These awards may be offered for all four program types.
Financial Aid Amounts	Students eligible for financial aid at ASU may get their aid packages reassessed, allowing for the possibility of being awarded additional aid (usually Private & Parent PLUS loans) if the total cost of attendance to participate on a Global Education Office program is higher than the cost of taking classes at ASU. This process is automated for all program participants.
Using Financial Aid Towards Direct Program Costs	Since you pay your Global Education Office Program Fee through your ASU student account, you may apply your financial aid as you normally would.	Since you pay your normal ASU tuition/fees, you may apply your financial aid the same way you normally would.	Since you pay your Global Education Office Program Fee through your ASU student account, you may apply your financial aid as you normally would. Costs Beyond Program Fee or Tuition	Carefully assess your expenses beyond the program fee, including airfare, passport, visa, meals, personal expenses, and any other listed items. The Global Education Office Program Cost Sheet can help you estimate these expenses.	Generally you will have to cover all other educational and living expenses (textbooks, housing, meals, airfare, passport, visa, etc.). The Global Education Office Program Cost Sheet can help you determine your additional estimated expenses. Smaller Costs to Factor Into Your Budget	Consider day-to-day costs involved in participating on a Global Education Office program, including luggage fees, communication (cell phones, data plans, etc.), local transportation, souvenirs, general spending money (toiletries, snacks, laundry, etc.), technology requirements, and other personal expenses.

Program Fees and Deadlines

Exchange Programs

Application Fee (applicable through summer 2024)

You are required to pay a non-refundable $50 application fee. (Starting Fall 2024, application fees will be waived.)

- Upon Submitting your application, the Global Education Office will charge $50 to your ASU student account which will be due on the date posted.
- If you participate in two different programs back-to-back, you will pay two application fees.

Administrative Fee

Upon confirmation of participation, you are required to pay a non-refundable administrative fee.

- The Administrative fee is due by the date posted on your account.
- If you participate in two different exchange programs back-to-back, you will pay two administrative fees.

International Travel Service Fee

If you are participating in an international program, GEO will enroll you in a mandatory medical insurance policy, with coverage for the duration of the official program dates, and you will have access to the Alert Traveler app.

- The International Travel Service Fee for semester exchange participants is approximately $400; the fee for full year exchange participants is approximately $800 (though these fees vary by the actual duration of your program). The International Travel Service Fee for summer exchange programs varies as the actual amount charged to each participant is dependent on the dates of the program.
- After you confirm participation in the Program, the GEO will charge the actual cost of the International Travel Service Fee to your ASU account, pending official Program dates, and the payment will be due by the date posted on your account.

ASU Tuition

If you are an undergraduate student, you will be registered for a full-time course load of the SAO 196 placeholder course (minimum 12 credits per semester; summer credits vary depending on Program requirements). Graduate students must register for a full-time course load of the SAO 596 placeholder course (minimum 9 credits per semester; summer credits vary depending on Program requirements). Participants will receive course enrollment instructions in their Global Education Office application upon being accepted into a program.

For summer exchange programs and ASU Online students on all exchange programs (regardless of term), it is important to notify GEO of the actual number of credits that you expect to earn at ASU so as to not over- or under-pay your tuition. When your credits are transferred back to ASU, any differences in the credit amount will be reconciled. If you under-enroll in the placeholder course, you will be charged the remaining tuition once your courses have transferred back to ASU.

Resident (in-state) students pay the resident tuition rate; Non-Resident (out-of-state) students pay the non-resident tuition rate; Online students pay the online tuition rate; International students pay the international tuition rate.

Tuition Payment

You will be billed your regular ASU tuition upon enrollment in the Global Education Office placeholder course. Follow the same payment and deadline procedures as if you were enrolling in any other course (see current schedule of classes for registration cycles and payment deadlines).

- Make sure to pay your tuition by the corresponding payment deadline or you will be charged a late fee and placed into a payment plan.
- Tuition Fee Waivers may be used to pay your tuition as normal.

Additional Fees

Participants are required to pay some mandatory registration fees to ASU. Students will be expected to pay any College Fees and the Financial Aid Trust Fee as a condition of participation. These expenses will be directly billed to your ASU Student Account at the time you are enrolled in the SAO 196/596 placeholder course.

Note: Participants who take other ASU courses in addition to the placeholder course will be charged ALL mandatory registration fees. In addition, certain majors at ASU charge students an additional program tuition/fee in order to maintain enrollment in the major (e.g. W. P. Carey, Barrett, Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering); students are responsible for paying these fees as normal during the term(s) they are participating in a Global Education Office program.

Accommodation

You will receive housing information directly from the host institution or your Global Education Office International Coordinator. In most exchange programs, you will make deposits and payments directly to the host institution, landlord, host family, etc. unless otherwise instructed by the host institution's international office.

Special Note: Your accommodation on-campus will be for a designated period of time. Read the information carefully as it is possible the contract period may run longer than your planned length of stay. If you choose to depart before the contract period is over, you are still financially obligated to the contract. Any refunds would be at the discretion of the host. If you opt to find your own housing, you should pay the landlord directly for any deposits or monthly payments.

Additionally, if you are participating in a year-long Global Education Office program, verify that the accommodation is offered during the break between semesters, as there may be an additional charge that is not reflected on the cost sheet.

Living and Traveling Expenses

You will pay for your own transportation to and from your host university. Additionally you will pay for your meals, local health insurance (if applicable), textbooks, and any other personal expenses as you incur them.

For those participating in a year-long program, the program fee will be divided into four charges on your student account. You must pay 50% of the program fee by the deadlines posted for the first semester of participation and the remaining 50% by the deadlines posted for the second semester of participation.

Note: Non-resident, Online, and International students may be required to pay a different program fee than Arizona residents. Refer to your specific program's cost sheet for complete program fee details.*

Financial Aid

Overview

It is possible to apply Federal Financial Aid money towards the cost of all program options offered through the ASU Global Education Office. Even if you have not received Federal Financial Aid in the past, definitely consider applying for financial aid for the period of your program. It is important to plan ahead to organize funding for your Global Education Office program.

How to Apply

In order to be considered for Federal Financial Aid, all students and parents of dependent students should apply for a U.S. Department of Education PIN at www.pin.ed.gov. PINs can be used to sign your Free

Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) electronically, simplifying and expediting the application process. You can complete your FAFSA online at www.fafsa.ed.gov. The ASU school code you'll need to reference on the FAFSA is 001081. The steps for applying for Federal Financial Aid can be found on the Financial Aid and Scholarship Services \(FASS\) website.

When to Apply

It is best to apply for Federal Financial Aid early. Completion of the FAFSA by the priority filing date of January 15 is recommended due to the funding limitations of some programs. Your financial aid file must be complete, including any documents requested by the ASU FASS office.

Reassessing Your Eligibility

The ASU Financial Aid and Scholarship Services (FASS) office generally allocates the maximum award possible to students based on need. However, there is still an opportunity to increase your eligibility for aid by submitting a Cost Sheet for your Global Education Office program to FASS. Each Cost Sheet typically outlines program costs, which are all taken into consideration in the adjustment of your aid eligibility, including items such as books and supplies, airfare, health insurance, passport and visa, housing, meals, personal expenses, local transportation, and other fees (ASU Travel Clinic Screening, additional visa-related expenses, etc.).

In order to have your financial aid eligibility reassessed, read the following sections pertaining to your Global Education Office program type:

Partnership and Exchange Programs

Upon beginning an application, you will receive an e-mail from FASS notifying you that they have received your updated costs. Once you confirm your participation in a Global Education Office program, you will receive a second e-mail from FASS instructing you to view posted awards in your MyASU account.

Summer Faculty-Directed and Global Intensive Experience Programs

Upon beginning an application, you will receive an e-mail from FASS detailing your current estimated financial aid package for the term in which you are participating on your Global Education Office program. Once you confirm your participation in a program, you will receive a second e-mail from FASS outlining your current aid package, listing any additional loans for which you may be eligible to apply, and instructing you to view posted awards in your MyASU account.

Please note that the opportunity to increase your eligibility for aid does not guarantee that the amount of scholarships, grants, and/or most loans can be increased. Generally, if there is an increase, it will be through Alternative (private), Graduate Plus or Parent Plus loans. If desired, complete the Federal Plus Loan and/or Graduate Plus Loan applications. Alternative \(private\) loans can be applied for through lenders such as Sallie Mae or directly through a bank.

Using Financial Aid for Fee Payment

Exchange Programs (Semester or Academic Year)

Students participating in Exchange programs will pay their normal ASU tuition. Exchange participants who are financial aid recipients should follow the regular Federal Financial Aid procedures outlined on the FASS website. FASS will reassess exchange students' cost of attendance to determine whether or not students are eligible for increased aid. Apart from the submitting the Cost Sheet on the student's behalf, the Global Education Office will not play any sort of role in the financial aid process for Exchange program participants.

Global Intensive Experience and Partnership Programs (Semester or Academic Year)

Visit <http://students.asu.edu/financialaid> for the most updated and accurate information. Students participating in Global Intensive Experience Programs or semester or academic year Partnership programs will be responsible for paying a program fee posted to your ASU student account. Since this amount is charged to your ASU student account, your aid package will be applied to any outstanding charges on your account when your aid is disbursed. Please note that aid is always applied to the charge with the earliest due date. If you have an outstanding balance from a previous term, disbursed aid will automatically be applied to those charges first.

Special Notes:

1. Some forms of financial aid are not eligible to be applied to the final program fee (Partnership and Faculty-Directed programs) balance due. Please check with your donor or department to determine if you are eligible to use your award for your Global Education Office program.
2. Institutional Scholarships: Prior to the posting of spring grades, renewable institutional merit scholarships are tentative. Students who do not renew their scholarships must contact FASS for other payment arrangements.
3. Any student must notify FASS if they withdraw and do not participate in their selected Global Education Office program. FASS must readjust each student's Cost of Attendance and, if necessary, reduce awards to clear any over-awards. Students will be responsible for overpayment charges.
4. Participating in a semester-length program requires you to maintain a minimum ASU full-time course load of 12 credits (undergraduate students) or 9 credits (graduate students), taking no more than the maximum load of 18 credits. You are required to maintain a particular course load to maintain your financial aid eligibility as well.

Summer Financial Aid

Visit <http://students.asu.edu/financialaid/summer> for the most updated and accurate information.

General Eligibility for Summer Financial Aid

Students are considered eligible for summer financial aid by:

- Enrolling in ASU courses during the summer term (minimum of 6 credits for undergraduates and 5 credits for graduates)
- Having a valid FAFSA on file for the current school year (for federal aid consideration), as summer is part of the previous fall and spring academic year
- Meeting eligibility criteria detailed online at <https://students.asu.edu/policies/aid-criteria>

Eligible first-time ASU students will receive a summer financial aid notification, sent to their mailing address on file. Continuing students will be notified via e-mail. These notifications will include instructions on how to view awards and complete the summer financial aid process.

The amount of financial aid disbursed will be based on actual credit enrollment.

Summer disbursement begins in mid-May for students enrolled in the first session and/or eight-week summer session. Generally, your financial aid will disburse 7-10 days before your program start date. Please note that this means you might have to pay some of your up-front costs out-of-pocket (i.e. airfare, registration fees, etc.) before your financial aid disburses. Make sure you have a plan in place for how to fund those costs that might arise before your aid disburses.

Summer Funding Sources*

- Federal Pell Grant
- Federal ACG/SMART Grants
- Federal Direct Stafford Loans
- Federal PLUS Loans
- Federal Grad PLUS Loans
- Federal Work-Study
- Alternative Student Loans

 Summer funding is limited to remaining eligibility from the preceding academic year. Since financial aid is disbursed on a yearly cycle (fall, spring, and then summer), only whatever is remaining in your financial aid package is available to you. If you know you are going to participate in a Global Education Office program during the summer, plan ahead and be strategic about how you use your aid in the fall and spring. If you can save some of your financial aid, you will be able to apply it towards your summer program.*

More Information

Students should visit Financial Aid and Scholarship Services (FASS) to learn more about qualifying for summer financial aid. Be sure to ask specifically to talk to a Financial Aid Counselor.

Grants and Scholarships

GEO Go Global Grants

The ASU Global Education Office is pleased to offer grants to ASU students participating in ASU-sponsored programs. All scholarships awarded are contingent upon the recipient's official acceptance into and participation on an approved Global Education Office program for the term in which they are awarded funding.

Grants are primarily based on financial need and secondarily on academic performance. Students may not receive more than one award. Students participating in academic and calendar year programs who do not receive an award in their first semester are welcome to re-apply in the second term of their program.

The GEO Go Global Grant has three review periods per term of participation. Go Global Grants will be awarded in the amount of $1,500. Students who are not awarded after the first review period will be considered for a $1,500 grant during the second and/or third evaluation period.
