BERLIN
CREATIVE AND VIBRANT

German workers are the most productive in the world—that’s according to data from the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. A direct style of communication that leads to consensus and a competitive mindset undoubtedly contributed to the success of the German economy—Europe’s largest—and offer the perfect environment for a rewarding internship.

In Berlin, students have the chance to experience European professional culture in a variety of industries including the booming start-up and tech scenes, or at multinational companies or nonprofits.

Outstanding architecture, exciting restaurants and bars, efficient public transportation, and cosmopolitan, English-speaking locals offer a compelling backdrop—and rich counterbalance—to a challenging internship experience.

“Berlin combines the culture of New York, the transit system of Tokyo, the nature of Seattle, and the historical treasures of, well, Berlin.”
Hiroshi M., U.S. Law Professor
